

Legal indications related to our homepage

1. Content of homepage and related offers

InterCard[®] does not guarantee that in a legal sense the content of our homepage is always actual, correct, and complete or reflecting the best quality of the information provided. InterCard[®] is not liable for any material or immaterial damages resulting from the use or not-use of information provided in this homepage. All offers are legally not binding and may always be subject to alterations without prior notice. InterCard[®] claims the right to add, delete, and discontinue part or all in-formation publicly contained on the internet at any time and at the discretion of InterCard[®].

2. Cross references and links

Cross references and links to homepages of third parties do not imply any legal obligations of InterCard[®]. InterCard[®] cannot be made liable whatsoever for any in-formation contained on such links or references. This applies not only to direct links to third parties but as well to the content of guest books, chat rooms, mailing lists or discussion panels maintained on the homepage or on the internet in general. Potential claims may only be directed to the author of any links shown on our homepage.

3. Copyright and brand or trade marks t

InterCard[®] will respect copyrights of any text documents, publications and graphical, audio or video displays shown or referred to on its homepage. At the same time it claims copyrights of all text documents, publications, graphical, audio or video displays generated on its own account. All brand or trade marks exposed on the homepage are subject to the legal rights of the related owner. The pure reference to such trade marks does not imply that they may not be subject to intellectual properties. The public use of InterCard[®] copyrights or trademarks or that of third parties requires explicit approval of the related property owners.

4. Data protection

Users of our homepage providing personal data (names, email- and home ad-dresses, etc.) on offer requests, order entries, questionnaires or similar online formats are doing this totally voluntary and on their own discretion. The use and payment of our products and services under pseudonyms is possible if technically feasible and secured.

5. Legal bindings of this liability exclusion

The exclusion of the above liabilities is part of our offers contained on this home-page. Parts of the above text not reflecting actual laws and regulations do not make other parts of the text invalid.

InterCard[®] GmbH Kartensysteme
Marienstraße 10
78054 Villingen-Schwenningen